Conversation in your CRM

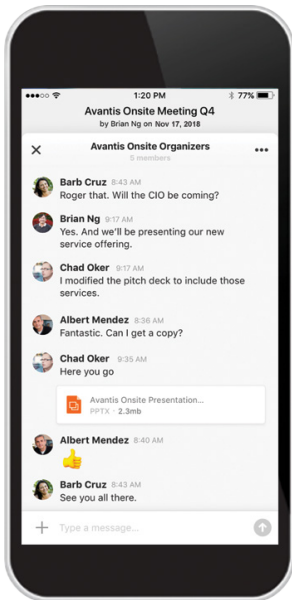

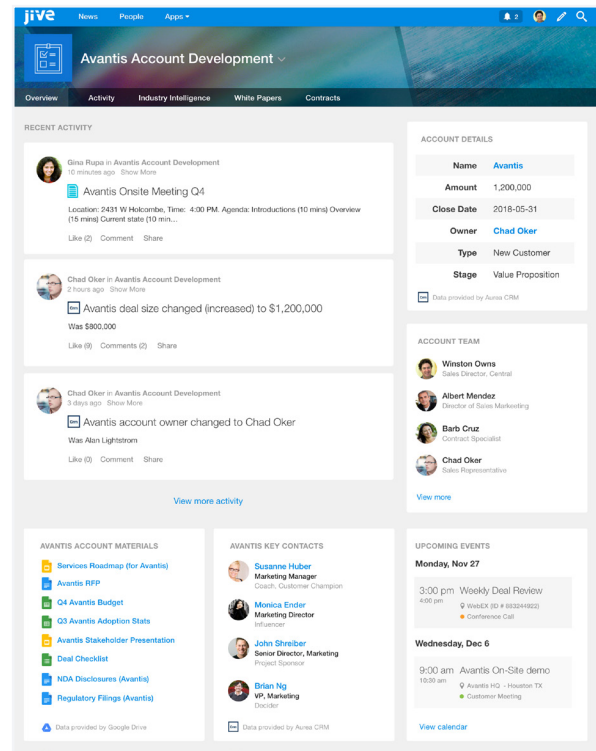

While your Aurea CRM provides critical opportunity and account data, Jive adds conversation and collaboration capabilities. You can stay in sync and work together moment by moment, without leaving your CRM.

A one-stop shop for deal management

Inside Jive, you can create virtual “deal rooms” where everyone involved – inside and outside your sales team – can quickly come together to plan, execute, and stay informed. Any seller can set up a Jive deal room in minutes, pulling together all the players, all the resources and all the information you need, in one convenient location. Jive streamlines and accelerates the most complex aspects of deal management, like finding critical information, getting answers to time-sensitive questions, creating RFPs and bid management.

- Connect with your entire team: not just sales and not just CRM users, but anyone inside your company (marketing, legal, product management, subject matter experts) or outside (partners and contractors) involved in the deal.
- Find information and assets: sales collateral, presentations, bids, RFPs, contracts
- Get fast answers: ask and answer each other's questions
- Communicate and collaborate: hold conversations, create and review documents
- Stay in sync: read the latest updates, schedule meetings, manage events
